

We cordially invite you to Banská Štiavnica for the 4th annual Flute Circle event. The recorder workshop and the harpsichord master classes will be held on July 7-12, 2024 and will culminate in a joint concert of participants and lecturers in the Church of St. Katarina.

The flute workshop is focused on playing in an ensemble under the guidance of French lecturers Robin Troman and Bertrand Blondet. Both lecturers have extensive concert work and experience in conducting and leading several early music ensembles in France, as well as presenting new compositions by contemporary authors.

The workshop is intended for talented SATB recorder players, students of music schools, amateurs, but also teachers and leaders of chamber ensembles who want to improve their playing on this instrument, penetrate deeper into the knowledge of the historically informed interpretation of Renaissance and Baroque compositions, and become part of a large flute orchestra. It is attended by players from 10 years of age, exceptionally even younger. The decisive factor is the level of the player and his ability to practice the material played within 1 week.

Flautokruhov includes harpsichord masterclasses led by Philippe Ramin - an excellent French musician, teacher and sought-after accompanist who has many music recordings to his credit. It is intended for advanced students of playing keyboard instruments, high school and university students with a musical focus, teachers and tutors. Previous experience playing the harpsichord is not a requirement.

The price of the workshop is 170 Euros. (Does not include food and accommodation fee)

You can find more information, an application form, and a short document from last year's workshop at www.flautokruhy.sk
